COLORED CLERKS IN THE POSTOFFICE.-THE News a few days since mentioned the appointment of a colored man as clerk in the postoffice. Yesterday another colored man, Norman Montgomery, commenced work as clerk. The first appointee is nearly white, while the latter is of the barnt ember shade.

ASSAULT ON DETECTIVE REED.-Yesterday four tars belonging to the monitor Saugus, recently arrived in our harbor, rowed one of her officers up to the dock, and soon after deserted. The Captain of the monitor applied to the detective office to have them captured. Officers Reed and Coates were detailed for the duty and sallied out in hot pursuit. They overtook the runaways making time several miles beyond the New Bridge, Ashley River, and returned with them "in limbo." Officer Reed undertook, in obedience to orders, to put them back on the monitor, and when on his way out in the stream they fell upon him and beat him badly, taking care to keep him in a position in the boat while administering the "drubbing," so that he could not resort to his "arms." They were finally carried to the vessel and immediately put in irons.

The election on the night of the sixth of July promises to be a very animated affair. It is generally believed by those who are to do the mos of the taiking that the discussion will be heated, and prolonged to a late hour. This discussion will, however, not be over all of the offices, but only over those connected with the Police Department, there being matters connected with the administration of this branch of the city government and the aspirants to the offices of it, which, we learn, will be thoroughly ventilated and will occupy the entire session.

office of City Inspector. That the position of City Attorney is sought for by only one person—C. C. Bowen and D. T. Corbin refusing to run for it.

It is bruited round that colored men are to supplant several faithful clerks in the United States Marshal's office.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS. In your issue of last Saturday appears another characteristic invective from the pen of that meek Christian Pastor of Spring-street Church.

Church.

We wish to call attention to the spirit of his letter, and to the fact that he does not reply to, or even deny, one of the statements we made in reference to Spring-street Church, or the McGee will cuse. He asserts things that we never uttered or thought of, and then labors, like a "mountain in travail," to disprove them. When did we ever claim any right to Spring-street Church as a "trustee?" When did we take it or hold it by "bayonet" or sell it out? This is a "man of straw," of his own creation—a spider's web, spun out of his own bowels. But I will not invoke the shadow of Blackstone and Marshall, or ask, with Donna Julia, "Antonia, where's my pocket handker-chief?"

chief?"

Perhaps his "country friends," for whose benefit he says he writes, will appreciate his learned and classical allusions, and they may be enlightened by his statement that "Chief Justice Chase presides over the Temple of Strife," and that he made a "speech over the graves of the Confederate and Federal dead at Magnolia."

But he silv friends doubtless have a different statement of the confederate and federal dead at Magnolia."

But his city friends, doubtless, have a different opinion of the United States Supreme Court, and also know that he never made a speech, or was present, at the decoration of either Confederate or Federal dead at Magloss for means of defence, to stir up a cloud of rile in the water, and then scoots out of sight. Thus Mr. P. dips his pen in gall, stirs up a cloud of invective words and opithots, and darts out, saying: "I have done with these men." Well, discretion is the better part of valor.

The simple facts in regard to Spring-street Church are these: It had been occupied by the Confederates as a military storehouse for two years before the city fell. After the surrender the trustees and official members of the Methodist Churches in Charleston requested Colonel Woodford to issue a military order turning over to our care their churches and parsonages in the city, which he did. A plan was then agreed upon that we should hold religious services for the white Methodists at New Bethel, and Spring-street should be opened for the colored. This was done for two reasons: First, to provide another needed place of worship; and second, to prevent its being occupied again by the military.

At this time (March, 1865,) there was not a preacher of the South Carolina Conference in the city. Every one had fled. Rev. F. A. Mood had run the blockade to Nassau; Revs. Mr. Meynardie and Rogers had left with the retreating army. "The shepherds were scattered and the flocks were smitten," and not one pastor returned for nearly seven months.

During this hot and sickly summer, we served the people, white and colored, according to the plan agreed upon, to the best of our ability.

During this hot and sickly summer, we served the people, white and colored, according to the plan agreed upon, to the best of our ability, and so far as the white people at New Bethel are concerned, to their satisfaction, as the following testimonial will show, an original copy of which was handed me by the secretary:

At a quarterly meeting, composed of all the official members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in this city, held in September, 1865, Dr. T. Rozar, presiding elder, and J. Chamberlain, secretary, a vote was passed "continuing the use of Spring-street Church to the congregation of colored people under my charge worshipping there," and that body has never asked us to vacate Spring-street Church from that day to the time we voluntarily surrendered it. We kept it in as good repair as we found it, using it only for a place of worship for the colored people, who have worshipped there ever since the church was built, and such others, white and colored, as pleased to come.

If all the rumors be true, there will be any number of word-duels at the next meeting of the Council.

Rev. Mr. Loyal raised $100 to help seat the grove at "Tivoli Garden" in March, 1868, which was a condition to the congregation at purchase or said. If it was, lest Mr. Pakett show the "title deed," which, he says, is requisite in such cases. About the "MoGoe will," referred to by Mr. P., we will only say spring-street Church or the M. E. Church South are not so much as named in it, but we doubt not every heir will receive his portion in due time. The Court of Equity will decide, and not Mr. P., who may be more learned in novel quotations than Blackstone. In regard to "military authority" and the In regard to "military authority" "bayonet," so frequently referred to, we have only to say there has been no other authority in this State till Governor Scott's inanguration, and in the city till Mr. Pillsbury became

The keeping of Spring-street Church a little The keeping of Spring-street Church a little longer than Mr. P. and his friends desired, but no longer than the Quarterly Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South atlowed, is the whole head and front of our offence. Drugs, Chemicals, Etc. FEVER AND AGUE,

FEVER AND AGUE,

FROM WHICH MANKIND SUFFER over a large part of the globe, is the consequence of a diseased action in the system, induced by the poison ous missm of vegetable decay. This exhalation is evolved by the action of solar heat on wet soil, and rises with the watery vapor from it. While the sun is below the horizon this vapor lingers near the earth's surface, and the virus is taken with it through the lungs into the blood. There it acts as an irritating poison on the internal viscers and excreting organs of the body. The liver becomes torpid and fails to secrets not only this virus, but also the bile from the blood. Both the virus and the bile accumulate in the circulation, and produce vio ent constitutional disorder. The spleen, the kidneys, and the stomach sympathize with the liver, and become disordered also. Finally, the instinct of our organism, as it in an attempt to excel the noxious infusion, concentrates the whole blood of the body in the internal excretories to force them to cast it out. The blood leaves the surface, and rushes to the central organs with congestive violence. This is the Chill. But in this effort it tails. Then the Fever follows, in which the blood leaves the central organs and rushes to the surface, as it in another effort to expel the irritating posson through that other great excretory—the skin. In this also it fails, and the system abandons the attempt exhausted, and waits for the recovery of strength to repeat the hopeless effort another day. These are the fits of paroxysms of Fever and Ague, such as the surface and the system abandons the attempt exhausted, and waits for the recovery of strength to repeat the hopeless effort another day.

These are the fits of paroxysms of Fever and Ague, such constitutional disorder will of course undermine the health if it is not removed.

We have labored to find, and have found an anti-dote, which neutralises this malarious poison in the blood, and stimulates the liver to expel it from the blood, and stimulates the liver to expel it from the blood, and stimulates the liver to expel it from the blood. As it should, so it does ours this afflicting disorder with perfect certainty. And it does more, or rather does what is of mere service to those subject to this infection. If takes in season it depels it from the system as it is absorbed, and first keeps those who use it free from its attacks; keeps the system in health although exposed to the disease. Consequently it not only cures, but protects from the great variety of affections which are induced by this malignant influence, such as Remetterit Fever, Chill Tever, Dumb, or Massed Ague, Periodical Headache, or Billions Headache, Billions Headache, Billions Headache, Bellions Headache, Rhaumatiam, Gout, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Casarth, Astima, Palplistions, Painful Affections of the yields, Britarics, Conc., Paralysis, and Painful Affections of the yields, Britarics, Conc., Paralysis, and Painful Affections of the yields, Britarics, Conc., Paralysis, and those cases, with the found to assume, more or less, the intermittent type. This "AGUE CURE," removes the cause of these derangements and cures the disease.

1 his it accomplishes by stimulating the excretories to expel the virus from the system; and these organs by decrees become habited to do this, their cline, of their own accord. Hence arises what we term acclimatation.
